Grain crops were ruined, windowpanes were broken, roofs damaged and other property losses caused by a local thundershower and hailstorm that struck Delta county late yesterday. New rainfall records were also established.

Most severe damage to grain, potato, corn and tomato crops was reported in the Flat Rock and Danforth areas. In Escanaba, basements were flooded and water flowed over the street curbs in the business and residential districts.

Record July Rainfall

S. E. Decker, U. S. weather bureau meteorologist here, reported 3.5 inches of rain fell from the time the storm began at 2:53 p.m. yesterday until 8 this morning. The rainfall brought the total for July to 9.93 inches, an all-time record for this month, and not far behind the all-time record of 12.08 inches established here in August, 1875.

Weather bureau records disclose that the 3.5 inches rainfall within a 24-hour period was exceeded by the previous high mark of 5.05 inches on Aug. 31 and Sept. 1, 1937, and 3.87 inches in the 24-hour period on Aug. 26 and 27 in 1921.

Within 24 minutes Thursday afternoon, 1.41 inches of rain fell, setting a new record for the less than a half hour period.

400 Telephones Out

The Michigan Bell Telephone company reported nearly 400 telephones were put out of commission during the storm. Augmented crews were still busy today repairing defective cables in

Vast Foreign Aid Program Stirs Up Protest In Senate

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Secretary of Defense Marshall said today the $6,300,000,000 proposed for foreign arms aid would provide "only the essential military requirements" in 1952 for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's forces.

Marshall testified before the Senate foreign relations committee whose members learned with some dismay yesterday that thereafter U. S. military equipment assistance "can be reduced."

Senator Dirksen (R-Ill.) said Acheson's proposal for about $25,000,000,000 in military funds in three years faces rough going.

"I just want to see Mr. Acheson get that kind of money out of Congress—I have serious doubts he can do it," Dirksen said.

Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) of the armed services group says he still favors spreading the first year's authorization over two years. He said he doesn't believe the equipment will be produced fast enough to spend as much as Acheson proposed.

Secretary of State Acheson told the senators yesterday of the three-year program. He said it is necessary to counter Soviet Russia's designs and bring about "an era of genuine relaxation of tension."

Marshall was called to give details on military aspects of the program.

He said requirements in the two following years "will be at least as large as the amount we are requesting for this year" but that thereafter U. S. military equipment assistance "can be reduced."

Work Completed On Bill To Extend Economic Controls

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A Senate-House conference committee, working through the night, virtually completed work early today on a compromise economic controls extension bill.

The conferees scheduled another meeting later today in the hope of disposing of remaining issues. The biggest problem left was what to do about a ban voted on by both the House and Senate.

The Senate foreign relations committee meanwhile called Secretary of Defense Marshall to testify on the administration's request for an $8,500,000,000 foreign economic and military aid bill for the current fiscal year.

Secretary of State Dean Acheson stirred up a storm of protest in the Senate with his disclosure yesterday that the administration considers this only the first installment on a three-year program that would probably amount to at least $25,000,000,000. Marshall faced questioning on the big part of this year's funds request—$6,500,000,000 for military aid abroad.

The House foreign affairs committee continued its nearly completed work on the foreign aid bill.

Truman Denies Mac Was Told To Keep Quiet

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) disputed today President Truman's contention that no military man had been disciplined for testifying before Congressional committees.

Mr. Truman told a news conference yesterday that if he had intended disciplining military officials he wouldn't have let them testify in the first place.

He made these remarks in connection with a denial that any more reprisals had been considered against Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who remains a five-star general technically on active duty despite his removal as Pacific commander.

Denfeld Case Recalled

Noting that Adm. Louis E. Denfeld had been fired as chief of naval operations after testimony in the navy-air force feud, Taft told a reporter:

"The president's attitude indicates the need for Congress' hasty

Detroit Ready For Big Parade

DETROIT—(AP)—Detroit was getting set today for the biggest event in its summer-long 250th birthday.

It's tomorrow's five-hour long parade, with 20,000 marchers and 60 huge floats, depicting various scenes in the auto city's history.

An estimated 2,000,000 persons will line the 2.7 mile line of march. The parade begins at 2 p.m.

Just before that, President Truman will make a brief speech from the steps of the Detroit city hall.

He will fly in from Washington Saturday morning for the celebration, but will fly right back out again before the parade starts.

The marchers will include more than 100 bands, plus military and naval marching units from nearby Canada.

Fifteen different nationality groups will parade in their native costumes.

Boy Scouts will carry a massed display of 280 flags, representing almost every country in the world.

So 250-year-old Detroit is watching the skies anxiously—like a youngster who fears rain might cancel his birthday party on the lawn.

General Motors Earnings Drop

NEW YORK — (AP) — A lower volume of car sales, plus higher taxes and high materials and labor costs, are cutting into General Motors' earnings, the corporation reported today.

It showed a net income of $139,000,000, equal to $1.55 a share, on sales totaling $1,921,000,000 in the second quarter of 1951.

For the same period in 1950, sales were $1,963,000,000 and earnings were $273,000,000 or $3.07 per share.

C. E. Wilson, G. M. president, and Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., chairman of the board, said the 1951 figures reflect decreased car sales, in addition to rising taxes, materials and labor costs.

"They reflect as well the lower margin of profit realized on defense work," GM added.

For the first six months of 1951, net sales were $3,881,000,000 and net income was $280,000,000, equal to $3.13 a share. This compared with $3,606,000,000 in sales in the first half of 1950 and a net income of $485,000,000 or $5.45 a share.

Sociology Raft Gets Dunking In Ohio River

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va. — The nautical trip of two unmarried girls and a pair of bachelors—all for the sake of sociology—is coming along swimmingly.

At least that's the way it worked out last night.

Today, they may be under way again.

The four young people, hitching rides down the Ohio river, got dunked last night when their 12 by 20 foot raft turned turtle.

No Romance

They planned to continue the river jaunt to the Mississippi, then right down to New Orleans. It's what they call an experiment in sociology to find out how four people adjust themselves to living in a confined area.

This experience caused some eyebrow hoisting.

One of the nautical-minded girls is Mary Ellin McGrady, 24-year-old University of Michigan student. She said any objections about four unmarried young people making such a trip were silly.

"Besides," she added, "all of us have other romantic interests."

The other sopping seafarers rescued by nearby river boats were Geraldine Garcia, 23, of Boston Artist; Milton Borden, 30, of New Bedford, Mass., and Don Brown, 24, a University of Michigan student from New York.

Supplies Lost

Their cramped raft with an eight foot square cabin was being towed by a river boat when it turned over. The young mariners lost food and clothing and a mascot dog in the swirling current.

A bit bedraggled and frightened, they figured out their next move while wringing out clothes in nearby farmhouse. One thing sure, they said, they're determined to complete the long river run if they can get the raft back in shape.

On, sociology!

Across the nation Ford employs approximately 110,000 production workers.

A wildcat strike at Chrysler's Dodge main plant idled 22,500 men. Another 10,000 remained idle at Hudson in the month-old "strike or lockout" dispute.

At both, the union has charged illegal "speed-up." Management has denied it.

Dr. Youngdahl To Talk At Kiwanis Convention

Dr. Reuben K. Youngdahl, Minneapolis, pastor of Mount Olivet Lutheran church, will be guest speaker for the annual governor's banquet at the 33rd annual convention of the Wisconsin-Upper Michigan district of Kiwanis at Escanaba, Aug. 26 to 28.

The convention chairman is Harry Gruber, Escanaba banker, who is assisted by local and district officers.

An estimated 500 Kiwanians and their families will gather in this Northern Michigan port city to participate in forums, discussion groups, election of 1951 officers, golf and song fests.

1951 Convention Theme

The entire program is being built around the 1951 theme of Wisconsin, "Freedom is NOT Free."

Convention registration opens at 10 a.m., Aug. 26th in the House of Ludington which will be the headquarters. All sessions are scheduled for William Bonifas memorial auditorium.

A board of trustees meeting set for 2 p.m., Aug. 26 will open the official program. A song fest will follow at 3 p.m., in which Kiwanis music groups, choruses and quartettes will participate for trophies. A memorial service that evening will conclude the days events.

Dr. Youngdahl, who was ordained in 1934, has served as pastor of his church since 1938 when the membership was 300. In 13 years of his pastorate at Mount Olivet the congregation has grown to more than 6,500. In 1939 under his leadership a new $60,000 church was built. Ten years later a larger edifice was built at a cost of three quarters of a million. Presently four morning services are necessary to accommodate the growing congregation. Their Sunday School has an attendance of 1700 children.

Brother Of Governor

Dr. Youngdahl, brother of Minnesota's governor, is a great sportsman. He has played tennis, basketball and football teams. He also has played professional basketball.

In 1945 Dr. Youngdahl was awarded the Distinguished Service Award as the most outstanding young man in Minneapolis. In 1949 he was selected as one of the hundred living great in the State of Minnesota. In April 1949 he was appointed as one of a group of one hundred to participate in a study tour of the New State of Israel.

Each week Dr. Youngdahl has 14 radio broadcasts originating from the Mount Olivet Lutheran church.

Presenting all convention sessions will be Kiwanis Governor Earl C. Knutson, Westby, Wisconsin. Governor Knutson will be assisted by the 15 lieutenant governors.

Meat Ceiling Poster Delayed

Final Action By Congress Awaited

Pending final action by Congress on extension of price control legislation, the Office of Price Stabilization has suspended until further notice the requirement that that retail meat dealers post their beef ceiling prices, Everett J. Davis, Grand Rapids District OPS Director, announced.

OPS previously postponed the posting date to August. However, uncertainties as to Congressional action makes it inadvisable for OPS to order the printing of meat price posters at this time. Today's action in no way affects the requirement that all retail prices for beef must be listed on the tray in which the cuts are displayed and that these prices must be at or below ceilings. Also, Kosher beef retailers who have been required to post their prices since June 11, must continue to display their lists.

Beef Ceiling Changed

OPS further amended its retail beef ceiling price regulation (CPR 25) to limit the fat content of pre-ground hamburger to 25 percent instead of 30 percent as originally provided, and to permit—under certain conditions—the sale of lean pre-ground beef with a fat content of 12 percent or less.

However, in order to sell this pre-ground lean beef, retailers must display at all times at least as much hamburger of 25 percent fat content or less. The lean pre-ground beef of 12 percent fat content or less will have a ceiling price of 10 cents a pound above that for hamburger.

In connection with the reduction of the fat content of hamburger from the normal practice in the trade of selling pre-ground hamburger with only one-fourth fat content. However, the Agency said, some retailers have taken advantage of the five percent leeway originally granted to make all their hamburger with 30 percent fat content.

Evasion Reported

Changes in the retail beef regulation were included in Amendment 2 to CPR 25, issued Wednesday and effective July 25, 1951. The amendment also prohibits retailers from selling specialty steaks unless these items have been purchased for resale in a distinctive package or wrapping.

OPS said there had been "widespread evasion" of an original provision in the regulation which authorized stores which made specialty steaks during 1950 to continue to make them under GPCR ceiling prices. Cited as an example of evasions was the sale of certain pre-cubed steaks as "specialty" steaks. The amendment also—increases the locker plant addition from $2.25 to $4.50 a hundred pounds. OPS said the original allowance had been found inadequate.

C-C Is Praised For Convention

Washington Editor Does TV Program

The Escanaba Chamber of Commerce has received many letters of commendation from various delegates who came from all parts of the country to Escanaba to attend the national convention of the Outdoor Writers Association of America.

The outdoor writers had much praise for the hospitality shown by the people of the Escanaba area, the convention services of the Chamber of Commerce, and other aspects of the region.

Following are excerpts from a letter sent by Michael Hudoba, Washington editor of Sports Afield magazine to the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce:

"Congratulations on a grand job you did in making the convention such a fine success. You all certainly made a lot of friends for Escanaba, and I might add many converts to the beauties and outdoor pleasures you have so abundantly."

"I ran over my TV program time raving about Escanaba and many virtues."

"In fact I was so personally enjoying it that I stopped on the way back and had another fine troutng trip. The only complaint I have is that if people want to work for a living, they better stay away from your country, otherwise they'd have to do their work on the streams around your country."

St. Lawrence Seaway Project Is Buried Again For Another Term

THE St. Lawrence seaway and power project has again been buried by a congressional committee. Yesterday the House public works committee voted, 15 to 12, to table the bill, action which virtually kills any hope of further consideration of the measure in this session.

It has been evident for several days that the seaway project was doomed to defeat in the House committee. Selfish forces that have successfully beaten off every effort for the past 20 years to get the project under way again dominated the House committee which considered the proposal.

These forces opposing the seaway and power project do not oppose it on the project's merits or demerits, but rather how the project may affect their own selfish interests. The opposition comes from the coastal areas, east, west and south, from the railroads who fear a loss of business, from Great Lakes shipping companies fearful that foreign vessels will provide competition and from other areas promoting pet projects of their own.

Much of this opposition is not founded on logical and sound arguments. There is, for instance, no danger of foreign competition on Great Lakes shipping business because that is already regulated. The fear of loss of railroad business also is based upon fallacious reasoning, according to transportation experts. It is contended that the seaway will develop at least as much new business for the railroads as it takes away in lower transportation costs from the Middle West to the Atlantic seaboard.

The action of the House committee in killing the bill followed by only one day a plea by Canadian Ambassador Hume

Funds Needed For Flood Relief

THE most damaging flood in the nation's history has washed its way through the Midwest, leaving death and devastation in its wake. At a time when the country can ill afford disruption of an industrial area, plants and community facilities have been leveled. Property damage has pushed beyond the $1,000,000,000 mark. Human suffering cannot be estimated.

The financial resources of private and governmental agencies will be thrown into the rebuilding of disrupted communities. Help must be given to those people whose lives have been dislocated by the flood. The limited resources of the small farmer, the baker, the barber, the storekeeper, and thousands of others who are part of a normal community will call for a long and costly rehabilitation task. It is a job which cannot wait. For these modest and helpless people each of us must feel deep concern.

The Congress in 1905 officially charged the American Red Cross with responsibility for the welfare of disaster stricken individuals and families. The Red Cross record of emergency help and rehabilitation for the victims of disaster is a long and a proud one.

With its financial resources already stretched to the limit, the Red Cross is, for the first time since 1938, launching a special Disaster Relief Fund campaign. President Truman has urged the American people to respond to this appeal to at least $5,000,000. The presidential appeal will be fortified by hundreds of thousands who in the real American tradition are ever prompt to give compassionate response to human need and suffering.

Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—A grim prospect of fuel shortages this winter was presented to President Truman in a sober, hour-long meeting by Secretary of Interior Oscar Chapman recently. Chapman, who is no "wolf" crier, pointed out the following chances of gas rationing and heatless days this winter:

For Oil And Gasoline—Iranian oil production, which supplies 5 per cent of the needs outside the Iron Curtain, may be halted for weeks and even months. In addition, Soviet agents are trying to stir up trouble in other Near East oil areas. Since the Near East supplies fuel for Western European defenses, the difference will have to be made up from the Americas—if Soviet agitation succeeds.

Chapman explained that the oil industry could not increase domestic production unless it gets more steel.

"We need 2,135,000 tons of steel pipe," he said, "if we are going to meet the increasing demands of this country."

Some 300,000 barrels of crude-oil production are already backed up in the west Texas-New Mexico basin for lack of pipe, the secretary of interior continued, and a 100,000-barrel a day production in the Rocky Mountains is awaiting completion of the Platte pipeline. One hope, however, was more oil from Mexico, and that was why he was flying to Mexico, Chapman explained.

BAN ON GAS FURNACES

Natural Gas—The industry has over-expanded and already does not have the pipe to bring gas to all its customers. An order prohibiting further installation of natural-gas home-heating units is a must. Without such a stop-order, the Appalachian area will have a serious shortage in case next winter has even two weeks of sub-normal cold weather. Defense factories, in this case, would come first, homes last.

Coal—There is plenty of coal in the ground for both domestic and West European rearmament, but a big bottleneck is gondola coal cars. Chapman estimated there must be an increase of 150,000 such railroad cars next year. Again, steel is involved.

Aluminum—Secretary Chapman estimated that we will need a step-up of nearly 1,000,000 tons a year. He has been negotiating for six months to bring smaller companies into the industry and break the hold of the three major producers.

Note—The above is why events in the Near East, including oil troubles in Iran, the assassination of King Abdullah in Trans-Jordan, and riots in Egypt are so important to the U. S. A.

MISSING WITNESS

The real reason Irving Sherman gave himself up and agreed to testify before the Senate crime committee is that he is sore at his former friend, Ex-Mayor O'Dwyer of New York City, now ambassador to Mexico. Sherman is the long-missing witness alleged to be the link between O'Dwyer and racketeer Frankie Costello. In fact, FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover testified that Sherman is "one of the most prominent criminals of the underworld," and the man who helped O'Dwyer win the mayoralty election in 1945.

After offering through his attorney to testify, Sherman finally met face-to-face behind closed doors with the most crusading member of the committee, New Hampshire's Bible-quoting Sen. Charles Tobey. Here's what happened at that dramatic meeting:

Tobey demanded curtly why Sherman had been hiding out from a Senate subpoena. With a shrug, Sherman explained that he had been staying at the Saxon hotel in Miami Beach. He admitted reading that the committee was looking for him, but insisted that he hadn't kept his whereabouts a secret.

Sherman's lawyer, Louis Waldman, then announced that his client was ready to make a complete statement. Waldman explained blandly that Sherman felt he had been wronged by O'Dwyer. Breaking in, Sherman also explained that his garment business had suffered financially from all the bad publicity. The lawyer and client then requested a "few days" to prepare a detailed statement.

So far, however, no statement has been submitted.

HANDBOOK OF PRACTICAL ENGLISH

Rockford: A teacher marked the majority of her pupils "wrong" for giving the plural of "beef" as "beef." She says it should be "beeves." A little light, please.—Mrs. B. W. A.

Answer: The plural of beef is either beefs or beeves. Of the latter Merrim Webster says, "especially U. S."

Boulder: My brother-in-law and I have a dispute. He insists that "boughten" is the correct past tense of "buy." He says "Have you boughten your groceries today?"—Mrs. G. W.

Answer: The correct past tense and past particle of the verb is: bought, thus: I bought the groceries; I have bought the groceries.

At one time "boughten" was commonly used as an adjective meaning "bought at a store; not homemade," as, "Is this a homemade dress or a boughten one?" Although it is a convenient and descriptive word, the exact meaning of which is expressed by no other word in English, "boughten" is listed as dialectal by the authorities. Like the irregular past particle "proven," the adjective "boughten" was brought to America by the Scotch.

Los Angeles: I notice that some whodunits use the spelling "clew" while others use "clue." Which is correct?—L. M.

Answer: Either "clue" or "clew" is correct; they are the same word. The spelling clue, however, is customary in modern usage.

Do you know the parts of speech? There are only eight of them, but they are essential to orderly sentence structure. Mr. Colby's leaflet, C-14, gives the part each plays in our language. For a copy, send 10 cents to him, care of this paper, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Solar Energy Expert Says It's Possible To Get 20 Times Power Needs From Sun

By DR. CHARLES G. ABBOT

Former Secretary of Smithsonian Institution

(Written For NEA Service)

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—With two devices I have patented for capturing solar energy from the sun, it is now possible and practical to produce from this source 20 times as much power as is now used for all purposes in the United States, including heating, lighting, transportation and manufacturing.

One of the devices, a rectangular mirror arrangement, is easy to construct. But if and when mass production should be applied to the patent involving a circular mirror which captures heat from the sun more efficiently, it would be the most desirable device to use.

If the heat captured by the rectangular mirror arrangement could be put into the most mechanically efficient steam engines we have today, we could convert 15 per cent of the solar energy intercepted into mechanical work. The circular mirror could change 25 per cent of the sun's energy captured into mechanical work.

The southwest part of the United States has from 70 to 80 per cent cloudless sky. The average intensity of the energy of sun rays in the clear sky in this region is about 1.4 calorie per square centimeter per minute, which is equivalent to 1.15 horsepower per square yard, or nearly a million horsepower per square mile.

So far, however, no statement has been submitted.

Gen. MacArthur Changes Mind About Fading Away

BY JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON—(P)—General MacArthur apparently has changed his mind about just fading away as he told congress he would when he addressed it last April.

Last night, in a talk to the Massachusetts legislature in Boston, he said: "I shall raise my voice as loud as often as I believe it to be in the interest of the U. S. industry.

Third, large mirrors would present their surfaces to winds. This limitation would perhaps hold solar power units to not more than 50 horsepower. This would require circular mirrors of a diameter approaching 50 feet. Many units could, however, be combined.

There is nothing fantastic about this idea. It is a practical source of new power for America's increasing need for power.

So They Say

What's wrong with gypsies? They are as good as Americans.—Mrs. Rahat Said Chhatari, wife of UN Pakistan delegate.

Joint chiefs of staff disagreed. But in his sixth Texas speech on June 18 the general suddenly shifted his attack and condemned the administration's domestic policies, too, thus getting into the field of economics.

So his attack on the Trumanites last night across the board—on all fronts, foreign and domestic—was the second such criticism he had offered.

At one point in his speech he seemed to be suggesting—as he had before—that the joint chiefs of staff were afraid to say what they really thought because of fear of reprisal from the White House.

It is difficult to nail down precisely what the general had in mind in many parts of his speech since in almost all of it he made changes without naming names.

For example, he spoke of the "insidious forces working from within which already have so drastically altered the character of our free institutions." Those "insidious forces," he said, have "infiltrated into positions of public trust and responsibility—into journalism, the press, the radio and the schools."

Mid-way in his speech he again defended his conduct as commander-in-chief of the United Nations armed forces and blistered the Truman reasons for firing him.

And he criticised the amount of aid this country is giving its allies abroad but added: "We should do all in our power to alleviate the suffering and hardship of other peoples and to support their maximum effort to preserve their freedom from the assault of Communist imperialism."

When this effort is "carried beyond the ability to pay," he said, it becomes "insufferable."

African Safari With Bob Ruark

By ROBERT C. RUARK

MTO-WA-MBU, TANGANYIKA—Our new home is a monkey swamp on a river called Mto-Wa-Mbu, which means river of mosquitoes. No fanciful imagination went into the naming of this particular jungle. It is famed for its greater and lesser dou-dou. Dou-dou, in Swahili, means bugs Just plain bugs.

Man and boy, I have been extensively bitten in far places, but I have never hit on such a comprehensive array of insects, of such scope in size and viciousness, of such flamboyant colors and insatiable appetite anywhere else in the world.

They are unionized, these dou-dou. They would not think of intruding on another bug's quarry, or violating his working hours. Consider the mosquito, which comes in sizes larger than a Chihuahua, and the tsetse fly, whose lance seems longer than the lion spear of a young Masai warrior. At least it seems longer when it plunges into your liver.

These bugs respect each other. No mosquito bites you when the tsetses are on deck. No tsetse stabs you when the mosquitoes have the franchise, during the night hours. When they knock off for a snooze, the fuzzy caterpillars and bees and safari ants and ticks take over. Your agent here is just one big lump. I realized the seriousness of my wounds only the other day, when a passing lady war hog sauntered up, winked, and dropped her handkerchief, under the delusion that I was a bachelor of her own breed.

FLIES ENJOY POISON

We have come to accept the mosquitoes and tsetses almost as friends, since they are rather agreeable about not biting you on an old bump. Also, we have quit trying to poison them, because they gangle with Flit, use DDT for pomade, and consider ordinary insect repellents as necessary Worcestershire on all meats.

What really terrifies us are ants, bees and the caterpillar. Especially the pillar. He strides across your frame, leaving scarlet trademarks on your hide, and the vivid impression that someone has just smitten you across the middle with a broadsword. After the fire subsides, a dreadful soreness sets in for a week, and then you turn several shades of yellow, black and purple.

I consider my hunting partner, Harry Selby, a very brave man. But I have seen him scream and shed his pants, in the presence of a caterpillar inside his clothes.

"I think," said Mr. Selby, who sneers at wounded buffalo, and plays games with surly mama rhinos, "that I should die of fright if one of these gaudy fuzzy creatures ever hopped into bed with me. I would rather go into the bush after a gutted leopard any day."

ROUTED BY BEES

I myself am a slayer of lions, the scourge of the leopards and a holy terror with the tommy, but I will confide that the reason we left the last camp was bees, Bees love lime juice. We were camped close to a hive. Every time Juma, the headboy, mixed up a gun-and-lime, we found them all had a peculiar fascination for me.

After days of stark terror I finally slew one, using my .470 Westley-Richards, which ordinarily is reserved for elephant.

All I achieved was the beginning of a blood feud. The general idea was that I was to supply the blood. When we finally pulled stakes I didn't have enough moisture left in my veins to hand a small jag to an undernourished vampire.

The hardness of the African dou-dou is amazing. You cannot kill a lion fly, for instance, with a swat. You have to pull his head off. Tsetses roll with a punch like fancy boxers. Mosquitoes administer anesthetic before they bite, and it doesn't hurt until later, when they've staggered off loaded with a pint of vital fluid.

Clothes are no protection. The average dou-dou is not allowed to call himself adult until he has bled his spear through three thicknesses of clothing. There is literally nothing to be done about African bugs but relax and let them feed, but when men get knocked cold by a hurtling grasshopper as big as a loaf of bread, it is time to pack up and come home.

Woods Safety To Be Shown

Demonstration At Chatham Aug. 3

A feature of the annual Farmers' Round-Up to be held Friday, August 3, at the Michigan State College U. P. Experiment Station at Chatham will be a demonstration on power logging and woods safety. This demonstration will be staged in the station woodlot.

The demonstration will be under the direction of Leland W. Hooker, timber technologist for the Forest Products Research Division, Michigan College of Mining and Technology, and R. C. Hammond, Michigan-Wisconsin Forest Products Safety Council safety engineer. Actual logging operation will be conducted to show the safest and most efficient way to use both hand tools and power equipment. Three different types of power chain saws and one or two tractors will be used in this demonstration.

In emphasizing the hazards of woods work, Hooker states "Each year one out of every six woods workers in the United States is injured on the job. This rate is higher than that of any other industry, and is more than five times as high as the average for all industry."

In addition to the demonstration, a display of safety equipment will be exhibited. This display will show protective hats, shoes, goggles, etc. that can be worn for protection not only against woods hazards, but also dangerous farm operations.

Roy E. Skog, Michigan State College extension forester for the Upper Peninsula, in urging farmers and others to see the demonstration and display states, "The big trouble is that woods hazards have become so commonplace that most workers tend to ignore them. The demonstration and display will call your attention to these hazards and how they can be avoided."

Unwritten Laws Of The Road

No. 14: Pump Your Brake Pedal To Make Your Stop-light Flash.

The trouble with turning is that you have to stop in front of some drivers and get in front of others to do it; you have to tell them that you are going to turn.

A flashing light will attract attention more effectively than will a light which is merely turned on and kept burning, especially if other drivers are not looking at the time the light goes on. By pumping your brake pedal your flashing stoplight has a superior chance of waking up a driver behind you who is not alert. Having gotten his attention with the flashing tail light, he is more likely to observe your pre-turn maneuver and your slowing down and conclude that you are going to turn in particular direction.

Drinking Drivers Are Death Cause

CHICAGO—To stay alive, don't drink and drive!

That was the conclusion of the National Safety Council after its figures for 1950 showed that in one out of every five fatal traffic accidents the driver or pedestrian had been drinking.

The 1951 edition of the council's statistical yearbook, "Accident Facts," states that 17 per cent of the drivers involved in fatal accidents and 22 per cent of the adult pedestrians killed in motor vehicle accidents had been drinking.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad and loving memory of our beloved son and brother, Louis DeYonke, killed in action in France seven years ago July 26, 1944.

Seven years of silent sorrow, Seven years of grief and pain, Our hearts are sad and lonely, Since you went away.

You left us so very quickly, God called and you had to go, You could not even say goodbye, And Dear, we miss you so.

We often sit and think of you And talk of how you died, Friends may think we have forgotten,

When at times they see us smile, We miss you here, we miss you there,

Your loving smile, your loving face, And when we sit and think of you,

For all of us did your best, God grant you eternal rest.

Sadly missed by parents, sister and brother:

Retiring Secretary Cites Importance Of Chamber Of Commerce

The importance of a chamber of commerce in the economic welfare of a community is stressed in a news release prepared yesterday by Joseph Van Arnam, retiring secretary of the Top O' Lake Michigan chamber here.

"It is estimated that the tourists spend upward of one and one-quarter million dollars annually in the community, and that resort operators spend another half million in Manistique for supplies."

"Even office routine of the chamber is impressive. Our register shows people from nearly every state in the union and every province of Canada."

Much Office Work

"Here are some office statistics during the past three months: 661 pieces of incoming mail; 1,245 pieces of mail sent out; 303 telephone calls received; 470 outgoing telephone calls made; 1,501 persons visited office for information, maps and names of places to stay."

"The Big Spring and the Seney Migratory Wildfowl Refuge were the attractions which most people wanted to see. The manager at the Big Spring states that over 30,000 persons have called there during the past three-month period."

"With three months yet to go, plus the hunting season, we are not over-estimating the dollar value we have placed on the resort business here."

VFW Auxiliary And Post Initiate New Members Tuesday

Five new members were initiated at a special joint meeting of the VFW and its auxiliary Tuesday evening at the VFW hall, it is announced.

Auxiliary initiates were Marjorie Belleville and Mrs. Earl Tufnell, sr. New members taken into the post were Don Messier, Jerry Coon and James Sangraw.

Initiatory services were conducted by Mrs. Fred Williams, auxiliary president and Lionel Mercier, post commander.

The program also included the surprise presentation to Mrs. Thomas Vaughan, past district president, of a life membership in the VFW national home in Eaton Rapids. The presentation was made by Mrs. Albert Ackerman, past auxiliary president, and Everett Anderson, past post commander.

Mrs. Vaughan is currently serving as state department bond chairman for the VFW auxiliary.

Plans for the water festival on Sunday, August 12, also were discussed.

At the conclusion of the business meeting a social hour was held. Lunch was served later. Everett Anderson was winner of the guest prize, which had been provided by Mrs. Eli Cousineau.

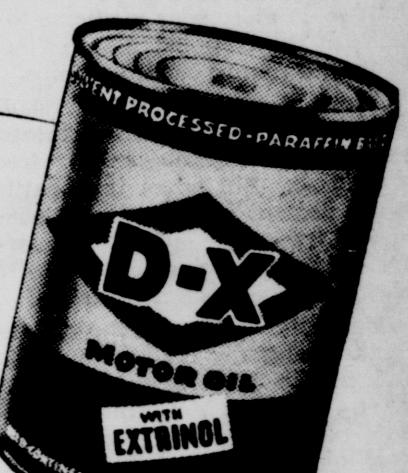

A shellfish called the purple produced a rich purple dye and as a consequence was fished almost to extinction by the ancient people of Tyre. The emperor then decreed that use of the dye was restricted to his family, thus giving birth to the expression, "born to the purple."

Softball note: From Ironwood comes the report that a meeting will be held Sunday, Aug. 5 in Iron Mountain to decide what to do about Michigan Amateur Softball association tournament play in the Upper Peninsula . . . See Violetta, president of the U. P. association, announced the meeting . . . As revised in a recent Charlevoix meeting, the state is divided into a six-region setup for tourney purposes, two of these regions (east and west) being in the U. P. . . One of the issues to be decided at Iron Mountain is whether to have a playoff between the U. P. regions.

District tournament play is tentatively scheduled for the week of Aug. 13 . . . Regional play would follow these meets and the state finals then on Labor Day weekend . . . Up at the top of the bracket comes the national softball tournament in Detroit Sept. 10-14.

And from Green Bay comes the report that Packer chances of landing Gene (Choo Choo) Roberts, former New York Giant halfback, are slim . . . Roberts is supposed to have signed with the Alouettes of Montreal, Canada . . . That's the same club from which Halfback Rip Collins "jumped" to get back to Green Bay recently . . . Montreal team manager, Lew Hayman, said of Roberts: "The boy is clear as far as I understand. He informed me he was a free agent."

The Iron River Junior American Legion State Baseball tournament committee has invited all boys who participated in junior Legion ball this summer to attend the state meet at Iron River next month as guests of the committee . . . The boys are to attend the tournament in groups and must be accompanied by one member of the Legion post which sponsored their team . . . The invitation was passed on by Gene Maki, Iron River Reporter sports editor.

Only blot on the record of the Iron River Legion junior team which arrives here today for the U. P. tournament is a tie game early in the season against Stambaugh . . . Including tournament competition, the Iron River boys have notched 11 wins this year in Legion circles.

Hawaiian Swim Star Beats John Marshall

DETROIT — (P)—Boyish Ford Konno of Hawaii, new national long distance swim champion, will try to feed Australia's John Marshall some more sour medicine tonight at the National AAU swimming and diving championships.

Konno easily whipped Marshall last night in their widely-heralded 1500-meter (metric mile) free style duel. But when they battle again tonight in the shorter 400-meter free style event, 18-year-old Konno is expected to have a tougher time beating Marshall.

Marshall was one of the six defending champions whose titles fell in the first big day of the meet. Only Pat McCormick, women's platform diving champion, held on to her crown.

Softball Stars To Be Selected

Will Face Bears In 'Jens Jensen' Tilt

American League softball managers are selecting all-stars this week to play the Escanaba Bears a softball - baseball exhibition Wednesday night under the Memorial field arcs.

The "Jens Jensen Night" program, honoring long and faithful service of Jensen to the softball sport in Escanaba will be climaxed by the award of a wrist watch between innings of the game.

Each American League manager will select several star players to represent the league in the exhibition. Names are to be turned in to Jensen at the field.

Announcement of the all-star players will be made Tuesday. Softball rules will be used except for pitching. The softball pitcher will hurl from the regulation mound, but the baseball twirler will step back 10 feet and throw overhand. Base distances will be the same as in softball.

Manager Phil Breazeau will field his regular Tri-County starting lineup. The Bears are currently leading the circuit.

First Game In Legion Junior Tourney Switched To Gladstone

A water-logged Escanaba baseball diamond resulting from the flood-proportion downfall yesterday forced a switch in the site of the American Legion Junior baseball U. P. championship series.

The tournament will get under way tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock as scheduled, but the game between Iron River and Escanaba has been moved to the Gladstone city diamond. The Bay Shore diamond at Gladstone is in good shape and will be playable if further rain does not fall.

If the Escanaba field dries up by Saturday afternoon, the second tournament game at 4 p. m. will be held here and the rubber game, if needed, is also tentatively scheduled at the Escanaba diamond Sunday at 2:30.

Pearson to Start

The Iron River 12th district champions, coached by Hoyt Ferm and Billy Rousseau, arrived here today and will rest for the opener tomorrow morning. Twenty players made the trip.

Coach Ferm is expected to open with Roland Pearson, left-handed pitching ace, tomorrow. Pearson, veteran Junior Legion chucker, is one of three Iron River moundsmen. Dickie Dunk, no-hit, no-run artist, and Jerry Sepanik complete the mound staff.

Iron River's other starters will be Tony Fregatto behind the plate, Martin Kopenski at first, Jimmy Linna at second, Lloyd Sloat at short, Gary Pearson at third, Pat Gallagher, Len Komblevitz and Chet Larson in the outfield.

One Tie On Record

Iron River enters the tournament with a record of 11 wins, and one tie this season. The club defeated Iron Mountain, Rhinelander, Crystal Falls, Stambaugh twice each, the Legion Alumni, Mohawk and Gwin once each. The tie came in an early season exhibition with Stambaugh.

Coach Ness has indicated that Jack Christie, righthander, will get the starting mound nod tomorrow morning. The Cubs, 11th district champs, will then have Fred Boddy, lefty, to throw against Iron River in the afternoon. Tippy Larmay completes the Escanaba hill staff.

Winner Goes To State

Remainder of the Club starting lineup will have Jo Jo Johnston catching, Paul Gunderman at first, Ed Lindquist at second, Pete Kuches at short, John Martinac at third, Larmay in left, Bob Sennenburg in center and Francis Artley in right field.

The teams will be battling for the Upper Peninsula championship and the right to enter the state finals tournament starting Aug. 7 in Iron River. Five state zone champions will compete in the final Michigan meet.

May Spell Difference

Vollmer managed to sprinkle nine singles and two doubles among his homers in this sensational spurt of timely hitting.

Only a journeyman outfielder who was obtained from Washington last year in a deal for Tom O'Brien and Merrill Combs, Vollmer may be the difference between also ran and pennant for the Red Sox.

Because Cleveland finally won a game at Yankee stadium, clipping the league-leading New York Yanks, 9-4, Vollmer's latest outburst was an important factor in the pennant race.

His third of the day came with two on the sixth and the score tied 10-10. Earlier he hit one with one on in the first and with nobody on in the fifth for a total of six big runs batted in. He now has 17 homers for the season—tops for him in the majors.
